

Man robbed jewellery store before making escape on getaway donkey

LILY SHANAGHER

A thief used a forklift to break into a jewellery store before escaping on a getaway donkey, footage has shown. The man, known only as MC, made the escape after robbing a store in Kayseri, central Turkey. He was filmed riding through town on the animal after taking goods from the store, before being caught and arrested.

Security footage showed the masked suspect using a forklift to prise open the metal shutters of the shop, where he allegedly stole 150g of gold.

CCTV shows him breaking through a window to get to the shop counter. He then pushes the glass-topped counter on its side and leaps over it before searching through the contents that had tipped out on to the floor.

The suspect is then seen finding something before jumping back over the cupboards and out the window.

Once outside, he was captured on multiple cameras riding through the empty town on a donkey, which had been waiting nearby. Several angles show the donkey trotting through the street, with the suspect on its back.

The 26-year-old suspect was later found and arrested by police. They had identified him through the video and launched a search.

CCTV showed him being walked out of a station by two officers.

Police were also filmed digging up the stolen gold jewellery, which had been wrapped in a black plastic bag and buried in a muddy patch of land.

The goods, which included ornate rings, necklaces and bracelets, were later returned to the shop owner, police said. (© Telegraph Media Group Holdings Ltd)
